On Saturday last, an elderly stranger, after engaging board at the American Hotel, hired a team and carriage from Dr. Lavery Stables. Although the price of this and New York State have been notified, neither the team nor stranger have been since heard of.

Rev. Dr. Lockwood occupied the pulpit in the Old Church Sunday last. These who did not allow the dampness to keep them away were well repaid for the attendance by the vigorous presentation of the truth which they listened to.

On Wednesday, Mr. Frank Bartholomew, coachman, after leaving his horse at the house of Dr. D. V. Thomas, went to the stable to make some purchases. While he was engaged, the horse being startled by something, started up the road on a gallop. The man ran up and sprang on the horse, but was thrown to the ground, and severely injured in the chest and legs.

The K. of H. Excursion.

On Tuesday evening of last week about twenty of the members of Excelsior Lodge Knights of Honor, of this place went on a grand excursion to New Haven in company with about two hundred knights, members of the various Newark lodges, also from Orange, Caldwell, Montclair, Belleville, Elizabeth, Vineland, Jersey City and Hoboken. The excursion was accompanied by Voss' band of Newark. On Wednesday morning, upon leaving the boat, the New Jersey Knights were met by about forty of the New Haven Knights, headed by the American band, who escorted them to the Lincoln rink, opposite Yale College, where all sat down to an informal breakfast. After breakfast the visitors were taken to the various points of interest in the beautiful Elm City. At one o'clock a line was formed for a street parade, consisting of the American band, twenty pieces, New Haven Knights, seventy-five men, Voss' band, eighteen pieces and New Jersey Knights, one hundred and eighty men. The parade was reviewed by Supreme Dictator Sloat of New Haven, the highest officer in the order, also by Past Supreme Dictator Cummings of Boston, Supreme Reporter Nelson of St. Louis, Grand Dictator Klotz of New Jersey and Hannis of Conn. After the parade a special train of cars in waiting was boarded and the visitors taken to Savin Rock, where an ample sea-shore dinner and clam-bake had been prepared, to which all did full justice. Returning to the city each one enjoyed himself as he saw fit, until eight o'clock, when the literary part of the days enjoyment commenced at the rink, consisting of music by the two bands, and speeches by the Mayor of New Haven, and the representative men of the order, after which the order to fall in was given and the New Haven men escorted their Jersey brethren to the boat, their band playing Auld Lang Syne, as we marched aboard. Reached home in due time, well pleased with our trip, and more firmly attached to the order which has paid to the widows and orphans of deceased brothers the sum of $15,082,345.04 during its twelve years of existence.

Obituary.

George V. H. Cooper, son of Joseph Cooper and brother of C. Cooper, ticket agent of the D. L. & W. R. R. company, died at his father's residence on Linden avenue, at 3:15 Wednesday morning, in the twenty-eighth year of his age, after a brief but severe and painful sickness of consumption. His failing health dates back two years, when he was attacked with intermittent fever. Since that time he has slowly declined in health until his symptoms developed into consumption five months ago. He leaves a wife and three small children. His wife has been confined to her bed by sickness for nearly two weeks and was only able to see her suffering husband for a few minutes on his three last days. The deceased was born at Hanover Neck in Morris county, but resided in Boonton until three years ago, when he moved to Bloomfield. For the past year he has conducted a news and stationery business in Belleville. He was a member of the Park M. E. Church and of Bloomfield Lodge No. 40, F. and A. M. The funeral services were held at his father's residence at six o'clock Friday evening and were conducted by Rev. Albert Mann, Jr. A beautiful floral broken casket was standing at the head of the casket, upon the base of which were inscribed the words: "Husband, Brother, Papa, Son." Interment will be made at Pompton Plains cemetery, at noon today.

Democratic Civil Service.

There is a great deal of dispute just now as to whether Mr. Cleveland and the Democratic party are carrying out the pledges of the former that removals were to be for cause only. The Democratic party never made any such pledge, but Mr. Cleveland did and thousands of disaffected Republicans voted for him in the vain expectation that he both could and would keep it. I contend that the Republican office holders are being put out just as fast as they possibly can be, and that it is time we had an end of the ridiculous pretence to the contrary.

My opinion may not have much weight, so I append the following statement of Mr. Alexander Troup, Collector of Internal Revenue in New Haven. While I disapprove of his ideas of civil service, I commend the open, honest manliness of these ideas to some of the thimble rigging talkers about here:

"Mr. Dawson is a Republican. That is just why I shall suspend him on September 1. Why do you suppose I was appointed Collector? I knew nothing about the office, and I was appointed to it simply because I was a Democrat. What reason have I to keep a Republican office holder in his place? My predecessor, Col. Selden, had twenty years' experience, and was a thoroughly trustworthy and efficient officer. Because he was a Republican he was turned out, and because I was a Democrat I was put in. As a Democrat I shall have no Republicans under me. That is all there is about it. Col. Selden's deputies are all honest, efficient and trustworthy officials, and I thoroughly believe it to be so. They are Republicans and I am a Democrat. They will have to go, for I don't believe the President put me in Col. Selden's place to keep a lot of Republicans in office. This may not be popular doctrine with the Mugwumps and civil service reformers, but it's my doctrine, and that is more to the point.

SPADE.

He that wants hope is the poorest man alive.

The Public Schools.

The regular monthly meeting of the Trustees was held at the Centre School house on Tuesday evening.

In the absence of Mr. Chabner Peloubet, Mr. Thomas Oakes was elected President pro tem.

Mr. John Sherman reported that complaints were lodged against Albert Lee and Washington Lee for breaking glass at the Berkeley School house, and that the matter was settled by the payment of ten dollars to the Trustees, and the costs of court. The money was used in replacing the glass.

Miss Lena Tomlinson received the appointment of Principal at the Berkeley School.

Barnes' History was adopted in place of Swinton's for use in Miss E. B. Whipple's class.

Upon the recommendation of the committee on supplies it was voted to make a contract for coal to be used in the Schools the coming year with James E. Freeman at $5.10 per ton, and 40 cents additional for putting in at Berkeley; the coal to be of the best quality Lehigh.

The Committee on supplies reported the purchase of a safe for the use of the Trustees.

Whitfield Oliver was re-employed as janitor for Berkeley, the Centre Primary and the Centre Schools, and Joseph Crane at Brookside.

Building Loan Association.

To The Citizens:

"Why doesn't Bloomfield grow as fast as the surrounding towns?" It does grow. The writer can count up quite a number of very nice houses that have been built within the past few years. The real estate agents say there is not a house to let, and they have calls every day for medium-sized houses. Our great want is houses that can be rented for a moderate rental, say from $15 to $25 per month. Persons cannot locate here because there is no room. Did I say "no room"? It is not true. There is room and to spare, but there are no houses, such as are most desired.

Bloomfield's greatest need is houses of moderate cost and cheap lots. It is all nonsense to talk about twelve, or fifteen, or twenty cents a foot for ground, and expect working people to buy. But reasonable rates and small lots, say about 50 by 150 feet, with a good, comfortable house, to be paid for in easy instalments, will attract them, and add to the town new property owners and good citizens.

We have gas, we have good water, we have excellent fire companies. We want now a Building and Loan Association. There is plenty of land that can be made available, and if young men, clerks and mechanics could only get the money on easy terms, with which to buy and build, many would do so.

The purpose of such an association is to assist the members to purchase lots and erect dwelling houses thereon or pay for houses and lots already purchased, by furnishing them with loans out of funds of the association, to be paid in some easy and convenient mode mutually agreed upon, or by redemption of shares upon equitable terms.

The plan of the association is chiefly this: Each person pays in one dollar a month for one share of stock, and if he takes more than one share he pays in the same proportion. Each share of stock is entitled to borrow from the association $200. At the monthly meeting this money is offered on loan and is sold at a premium and each person who takes a loan must pay the interest as well as the one dollar for his stock. If a member does not take a loan he gets the $200 for each share when the association runs out, in about eight or nine years; and the person who takes a loan, at the end of that time has paid his loan back.

To make a successful association it should have at least 500 shares of stock taken. All who would like to take stock in such an association, whether they want to borrow from the association or help others to build, will please communicate with the undersigned, stating how many shares they will take; and if enough subscribers are obtained a meeting will be called to form the Bloomfield Building and Loan Association.

JOS. A. PELOUBET.

Township Committee.

At the town committee meeting on Wednesday evening, Mr. Oakes made a proposition to furnish $25 to send Mr. Marsh to attend the Firemen's Convention to be held shortly at Cincinnati. The motion was carried.

The piece of ground in front of Martin's store was offered to the town for $250, which was refused and $100 was offered to Mr. Martin. The matter was then laid over until the next meeting.

—We would acknowledge the receipt of Moffat's Elite Directory of Bloomfield, Montclair and the Oranges, which appears in a neat cloth binding and attractive form. We presume it may be purchased from Mr. T. N. Moffat, the publisher, although much fuller than the first edition, we miss the names of some of our townsmen whom we think should have a place in these pages.

An error by a druggist resulted in the fatal poisoning of two well-known young ladies in Hoboken last Monday. C. F. Holz, a millionaire wine merchant, returned with his family to their home from the Catskills on Wednesday week. Two of his daughters, Gretchen Margaret, aged nineteen years, and Ella, aged sixteen, were disposed, and Dr. August Lowenthal, a young physician, to whom Gretchen was betrothed, was summoned to attend them, and found them suffering from malaria. He wrote a prescription which was mistaken by the druggist to whom it was sent, and both girls were fatally poisoned by taking the mixture he prepared.

Union Gospel Meeting.

At the meeting of August 30th Mr. J. D. Williams referred to the address to young men in the chapter read, from the 1st Epistle of John, as an exhortation to active, persevering efforts by all Christian young men in behalf of every good work. The temperance cause needs such workers, especially at this time.

The next speaker suggested that professing Christians should abstain from violating the Sunday law as well as their Christian profession by ceasing to purchase Sunday newspapers and from patronizing ice cream wagons on Sunday, which was done by some in Bloomfield, thus setting a bad example to others.

Mr. Baldwin said that ball playing had not yet entirely ceased, and that good citizens should be on the watch to put an end to such diversions. The law was amply sufficient, if used, to insure a quiet Sabbath.

Rev. John Ward made a stirring address on temperance work and Sabbath observance. He referred to his work of preaching to the prisoners confined at Caldwell, most of whom came there by intemperance. He urged on all Christians, as a duty to the tempted, to their own families, to the church, and to their Leader, Jesus Christ, to use every effort to restrain and restrict the use of intoxicating liquors. To be indifferent now is wrong; to oppose temperance efforts is a crime; to promote the liquor traffic and habitual drinking is a sin. The churches must arouse to their duty.

Mr. Vandewerke related an incident which occurred at San Francisco, showing the terrible effects of rum-selling and drinking, by which a child and its mother were killed, and the miserable drunkard shot himself; and that the hardened criminal who sold the rum-poison continued his nefarious business without remorse, even on the day of their funeral.

Mr. Biddulph referred to the progress of the work of signing protests against further license of tipping houses, and gave anecdotes showing that this was doing good as an educator in promoting temperance principles in the town. It was hoped that there would be a large attendance at the meeting next Sunday afternoon, Sept. 6th, at the old Lecture Room of the Presbyterian church on the Park. Every member of the temperance organizations should be present.

State Items.

An "Improvement Company" has been organized at Plainfield. Their first action will be to secure a public park for the city.

The woolen mills at Raritan, Somerset county, it is said, have sufficient orders to keep them running to their full capacity for three months, and that the employees are now making extra time.

Ground has been broken in Jersey City, on Woodward street, for the factory of the Standard Watch Company, which will manufacture a watch movement patented by the president of the corporation. The factory will give employment to 500 hands.

On the 26th ult, about 2,000 Smith met at Pea pack and held their annual festival in great joy. The main address was delivered by Dr. Isaac Quinby, of Jersey City, who spoke against Tobacco, Rum and the Pennsylvania Railroad Co., and told the Smiths to look out for themselves in the matter of representation in the Legislature. Rev. Dr. Rankin, of Baskingridge, also spoke.

About 6 o'clock Thursday evening, a young man was crossing the railroad track at the Chestnut street crossing in Newark, when he was struck by the Philadelphia express train and thrown fifteen feet into the air. In descending his body struck upon a lamp post and then fell to the ground. He was picked up and carried into the depot where he died in a few minutes. His body was identified as that of a tin peddler who lives at No. 13 Forsyth street, New York.

Near Englewood, N. J., five young gentlemen, New York bankers' clerks, for a lark took a coach and visited a neighboring melon patch on a recent moonlight night. They failed to report Thursday morning and investigation proved that it was the novel occupation of picking bird shot from their faces that detained them. In their friendly visit to the melon patch the entire party were discussing the qualities of what was believed to be an extraordinary specimen when there was a flash and a report, and each man clapped his hands to his face.

Ossie Earle, a travelling salesman, formerly a resident of Elizabeth, was to have been married Wednesday night to Miss Maggie Barrett, living at Lafayette. At the appointed hour all the guests, together with the minister, were assembled waiting for the groom, when a messenger boy entered and handed a telegram to the expected bride. She opened it with trembling fingers and read: "I go West to-night, Ossie." The reading of this produced quite a commotion. The bride was the first to regain her composure and announced to the assembled company that, wedding or no wedding, the festivities would go on just the same, taking the initiative herself in leading off a dance. Nothing has since been heard of the delinquent lover.

Notice.

THE UNION GOSPEL TEMPERANCE MEETING will be held on Sunday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, at the old Lecture Room of the 1st Presbyterian Church, on the Park. Exercises will consist of praise and song, and brief addresses by various speakers. All are invited. Accounts will be given of the results of the twenty-nine remonstrances which have been circulated for signature recently, in opposition to the further license of tipping houses in Bloomfield.

The Reform Club will hold their first meeting in their new quarters at the old Lecture Room of the 1st Presbyterian Church, this Saturday evening, Sept. 5th, at 8 o'clock, sharp. Every member is specially requested to be present.
